Food Allergens and Preferences

The student can meet with the dietitian and Chef Manager of their dining hall of choice to learn how to safely navigate the dining locations and discuss appropriate dining options.

The student is responsible for communicating any questions or concerns to the Chef Managers or dining supervisors in the dining facilities. We always recommend personal interaction with our management staff to obtain the most accurate information at the time of meal service.

Please report your food allergy to Siena College Health Services 518.783.2554 or chogan@siena.edu prior to arrival on campus.

Should you need further assistance regarding food allergies or dietary restrictions, please contact the Health Services office at Siena College.

The requested health information will be kept on file by Health Services.

GLUTEN SENSITIVE

The student should contact the Siena Fresh Dietitian at kjob@AVIFoodsystems.com prior to arrival on campus. All students with celiac disease or non-celiac gluten sensitivity must meet with the dietitian and the Chef Manager in the dining facilities most frequently visited.

The gluten sensitive (GS) icon indicates that a selection contains no gluten in the ingredients, such as wheat, barley or rye. However, Siena College is not a gluten-free campus, and incidental gluten may still be present in GS labeled foods.

Menu Labeling

The “Food Allergens & Preferences Guide,” posted in each dining location, highlights the icons that are used to designate food allergens, as well as vegetarian, vegan, gluten sensitive and Halal options.

Printed menus are posted at every station in the dining halls, which list ingredients and identify the top eight food allergens (eggs, fish, milk, peanuts, shellfish, soy, tree nuts and wheat) with icons.

Menus are also posted on our website AVIServes.com/sienafresh/menus. While we make every effort to provide accurate information, ingredient manufacturers of items used within our menus could change the formulation of, or substitute products at any time without notice. Substitutions may also be made during food preparation.

Students with food allergies should discuss questions or concerns about specific food items with the Chef Managers in the dining halls.

Siena Fresh makes every attempt to identify ingredients that may cause allergic reactions for those with food allergies. Siena Fresh does not have a gluten-free or allergen-free kitchen. We adhere to ServSafe practices to avoid cross-contamination and cross-contact.
